

Kid's Corner

By Mallory Royer, Age 11

I am very happy to have been involved in many of the shows for Hershey Area Playhouse. If you've never been in a play or worked backstage, I would definitely encourage you to give it a try.

Like many kids, I've been in plays at school and church. I've also been on stage with the Playhouse since I was five years old! I had a chance to be a Christmas caroler in one scene of The Man Who Came to Dinner, an orphan in Annie, a munchkin in The Wizard of Oz, one of Fagin's gang and a workhouse kid in Oliver! and one of Little Red Riding Hood's grannies in Into the Woods Junior. I've also helped hang posters for lots of our shows and done other things to help out along the way.

If you've ever been on stage, you know how great a feeling it is. You work so hard to put your play together and magically it all comes together at the end. You make great friends of all ages from all over the area. Plus, it is a lot of fun to learn your lines and songs and dress up like someone else!

Check HersheyAreaPlayhouse.com to see when the next auditions are for parts for kids. Then, give it a try. If you don't make it the first time, don't give up. You can help with the show in other ways and try out for the next one!

Show Name:

The Other Woman

The Wizard of Oz

Barefoot in the Park

Bye, Bye Birdie

Oliver!

Annie

Cinderella

A Christmas Story

Into the Woods Junior

Nuncrackers

Little Shop of Horrors

You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown

The Homecoming

The Sound of Music

Forty Carats

The Mousetrap

Clue:

"You'll shoot your eye out, Ralphie!"

You might have sat forty feet from the score board where this play was staged.

"Feed me, Seymour. Feed me!"

The hills are alive with one of these answers.

8 red-headed children and you've got...

You won't find a story exactly like this in a fairytale book.

This play was actually staged in a PARK.

"Leapin' Lizards!"

Ring. Ring. Ring.

Can anyone detect some cheese?

These holy people were a little crackers!

Turn up the music, Rosie! It's time to put on a happy face!

"Good grief."

What do you eat for breakfast? These orphans eat gruel!

"I'll get you my pretty, and your little dog too!"

If the shoe fits, wear it!